Residential Land & Development

The identification and creation of residential development sites can lead to significant increases in value for landowners. In particular commercial property and sites in the right location are in high demand for residential development. The Harris Lamb Development Team has an excellent track record in identifying opportunities and converting existing commercial stock into added value uses.

The Development Team works closely with Harris Lamb's Agency, Professional and Planning teams to identify opportunities, appraise their potential for development, and advise clients on the most appropriate strategy for delivering full value to landowners.

We can also project manage the relocation of a business to suitable alternative premises releasing latent development value in the process.

The Development Team has a wide variety of experience in the residential land sector and can advise on:

- Disposals
- Appraisals & Valuation
- Acquisition
- Portfolio valuations
- Planning
- Joint ventures
- Option agreements
